

FREE HEALTH LECTURE

Relieving the pain of hand & wrist arthritis

Nearly 27 million Americans suffer from painful and debilitating osteoarthritis, also called wear-and-tear arthritis. When it strikes the hands and wrists, it can make even the simplest tasks—such as picking up a cup of coffee or turning a doorknob—difficult or even impossible. Luckily, there's a lot you can do to relieve the pain.

Join Dr. Daniel Master, an experienced hand and wrist specialist, as he describes steps you can take to reduce the pain of your osteoarthritis—from exercises and medications to minimally invasive surgery.

Speaker Daniel Master, MD, with Mapleton Hill Orthopaedics

When Tuesday, Jan. 28, from 7 to 8 p.m.

Where Plaza Conference Center
1850 Industrial Circle, Longmont
(Located behind the Best Western Plaza Hotel.)

RSVP Reservations required.
Call 303-441-0580 or visit bchlectures.org/handpain

Boulder Community Hospital

The best place to get better
bch.org

